Present day society is consciously seeking to encourage the participation of the individual in the life of the group. As the most important adult education agency in the community, the public library must consciously develop a broad program directed toward the advance of popular education. During the past year the Massachusetts Division of Public Libraries, charged with the establishment and improvement of state-wide library service, has encouraged the integration of the services of public and school libraries with the activities of other social, educational and cultural agencies in the community so that all libraries may serve as institutions of social power and importance.

PERSONNEL

In the last fiscal year, the Division had personnel changes in six of the eight professional positions on the staff. Three of the six changes were of the top three supervisory positions, two of bookmobile librarians, and the other the Cataloguer. In addition to the professional staff turnover, there were numerous changes on the clerical staff. Such a condition of necessity detracts from the smooth functioning, efficiency, and economy of operation and productivity of any organization. Personnel changes may be expected frequently among the professional staff members until there is a reallocation of salaries bringing them in line with American Library Association standards, and with salaries being offered in other state library extension agencies for positions of comparable responsibility. The high rate of turnover in clerical staff will continue until there is an elevator or dumb waiter installed in the Department of Education Building to facilitate the inter-library loan services which require the mailing of approximately five thousand (5,000) book packages each year—all now carried manually from top floor to basement over three flights of stairs.

INFORMATION AND ADVISORY SERVICES

To channel local library news and library information of national and international significance to all the libraries of the Commonwealth, two issues of the Division's News Letter were mimeographed and distributed, the Annual Report of the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners was printed, and news contributions were submitted for the monthly issues of the Massachusetts Educational News and the quarterly issues of the Massachusetts Library Association Bulletin. Through office conferences with librarians and library trustees, and field visits to libraries, recommendations for improvement were offered and on-the-spot assistance was given in many public, school, and state institution libraries.

From the annual data sheets distributed to all libraries by the Division, statistical tables were compiled at the request of library trustees, city councillors or town selectmen to enable them to evaluate the library service in their communities with that in communities of comparable size and wealth.

A placement service for librarians was maintained with which librarians registered their wants as to change of position, and libraries registered staff vacancies. A long questionnaire on library buildings in this state was tabulated; and two questionnaires of considerable length and importance were completed for the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics and the U. S. Office of Education.

BOOK SERVICES

Staff shortages necessitated a suspension of the regular inter-library loan services from November 15 to December 6, and again from December 17 to March 1. This was a serious situation since the Division serves as the central inter-library loan agency for the state. A detailed questionnaire covering all phases of inter-library loan was mailed to a selected group of libraries. The results of the questionnaire were tabulated and are being studied with an eye to revising the inter-library lending code in order to improve and speed up the service. The lending to public libraries from the Division's collections of books in thirty-odd foreign languages is a vitally needed service. To discover what national groups were most predominant in the state, and in what areas specific national groups had centered, a conference was arranged with the State Director of Immigration. As a result of this interview the purchase of books in foreign languages has been systematized.

REGIONAL LIBRARY SERVICE

State Regional Library Centers

The bookmobiles operated out of the three State Regional Library Center offices traveled 20,310 miles bringing 115,511 books of recreation, education and information to 90 communities in the state within the three areas served. For the first time since the inauguration of this service, a bookmobile to replace the one in operation in the Pittsfield area since 1939 was purchased with state funds. The latter part of the fiscal year state funds were also allocated for replacement of the bookmobile in the Greenfield area. Delivery is expected on this vehicle during the first quarter of the new year.

Proposed Plan for Library Federation

The Library Adviser through four conferences, has discussed with Archibald MacLeish a plan for a federated group of libraries in the Conway area whereby some thirteen communities would share the services of professionally trained library specialists and pool their library resources for cooperative use. Mr. MacLeish is so enthusiastic about the idea of experimentation with this new pattern of library service in this state that he is giving generously of his time and energies to develop local interest in the plan and to procure funds outside of local or state appropriation to finance a two year demonstration project. Should such a demonstration as this materialize, it would have a carry-over value and could well become an important point of leverage for future state regional library planning.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

Act Providing for the Certification of Librarians. On August 14, 1948, ninety days after its passage, the Act Providing for the Certification of Librarians became effective. Under the terms of the Act, the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners, assisted by an Advisory Committee of professional librarians, is the certifying agency. This Advisory Committee was duly appointed by the Board, and from October to April held 18 meetings, bringing in their final report to the board on April 5, 1949. The report was carefully studied and evaluated, and a follow-up made on the Advisory Committee's recommendation that the Office of the Attorney General be consulted on certain technicalities in the Certification Law. The Board expects to be ready to receive applications for certificates of librarianship within the next few months.

Courses in Library Science. The Summer Institute for Librarians was held at Simmons College from June 27-July 1, with the college cooperating in the provision of classrooms, dormitory and cafeteria facilities. Members of the Division's staff handled the instruction and laboratory work in cataloging and classifying, reference, book selection, and library service to children and young people. There were 40 librarians registered from 29 towns, representing 29 public libraries and 2 state institution libraries.

Continuing its series of basic library science courses for teacher-librarians, and refresher courses for experienced school librarians, a fifteen week course in Cataloging and Classifying was offered by the Division of Public Libraries in cooperation with the Division of University Extension. Because of an overflow registration the course was conducted in two sections, with one section taught on Friday evenings from October 14, 1948, to February 17, 1949, at Seaver Hall, Harvard University, by Miss Ruth Hennig, and the second section taught on Saturday mornings from October 2, 1948, to January 29, 1949, at Boston Public Library by Miss Mary E. Kauffman. There were 49 librarians enrolled in the two sections of this course.

Tri-State Workshop. A workshop designed especially for high school librarians and librarians working with young people in public libraries was co-sponsored by this Division and the state library extension agencies in Connecticut and New York, and held from July 19-30, 1948, at the New York State College for Teachers in Albany. Miss Margaret Scoggin, Librarian of the Nathan Strauss Branch of the New York Public Library, directed the Workshop with the school library supervisors from the three sponsoring states serving as consultants.

Story-Telling Transcriptions for Radio Broadcast. In cooperation with the Department's Office of Radio-Audio-Visual Aids, the Division of Public Libraries developed a series of 13 story-telling records which are available on loan to public libraries for radio broadcast. Funds for the professional services of Mrs. Anne Whitson, who adapted and narrated the stories, were furnished by the Massachusetts Library Aid Association.

PUBLICITY AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

Radio. Upon invitation of Senator Whittier, the General Secretary participated in the August 14, 1948, program of "This Week at the State House" broadcast over Station WLAW. Through interview technique, the services and activities of the Division were explained.

In January of 1949, the Library Advisor appeared on the "Leaders are Readers" program sponsored by the Watertown Public Library and broadcast over Station WCRB in Waltham.

Sixty-seven special bibliographies were compiled by the School Library Supervisor for the "Friends Around the World", "Living Literature", and "Listen and Learn" series broadcast during the year by Station WBZ for in-school listening.

Newspapers. A full page of the July 4, 1948, Boston Sunday Globe, Rotogravure Section, was devoted to the bookmobile service operating out of the State Regional Library Center in Fall River.

Articles Published. The January 1949, issue of the Massachusetts Library Association Bulletin carried an article by the Library Advisor on "Equalization of Library Coverage in Massachusetts".

Another issue of the State Library Association Bulletin carried a report by the General Secretary on Archibald MacLeish's "Group Library Plan for the Conway Area".

The State School Library Supervisor wrote an article on "School Library Trends in Massachusetts" for the April 1949, issue of the Massachusetts Teacher.

Talks. Members of the Division's professional staff gave twenty-five talks before state and regional library groups, Simmons College Summer School, the State Teachers College Summer School at Hyannis, school assemblies and parent-teacher group meetings in various cities and towns.

Exhibits. Twenty-three book exhibits were prepared and lent to public libraries, teachers' colleges, parent-teacher groups, the Girl Scouts, and the University of Massachusetts Extension programs.

"Books for Fun". A bibliography on humorous books for children was compiled by the Regional Librarian in Pittsfield at the request of the University of Massachusetts Extension Specialist in Home Life and Child Care. Fifteen thousand copies of this list were printed for distribution throughout the state by extension workers and home demonstration agents.

Distinguished Visitors. During the year the Division was visited on two occasions by Miss Nora Beust, School Library Specialist in the U. S. Office of Education. On the occasion of the first visit, the State School Library Supervisor arranged a dinner meeting at the Women's City Club at which Miss Beust was presented to the librarians of the State Teachers Colleges. The second visit was made during the Division's Annual Summer Library Institute.

Miss Mildred Batchelder, Executive Secretary of the American Library Association's Division of Work with Children and Young People, came to Massachusetts to confer with the Library Advisor on the Conway Regional Library Plan.

The Director of Libraries, U. S. Information Service, in Stockholm, Sweden, and the Children's Librarian at The Hague in Holland, included the Division on their U. S. itineraries to procure information on the current functions and future plans of this state's library extension agency.

CONCLUSION

To combat the problems of this state's fixed library pattern and the inequality of library coverage, service from the present regional library centers should be expanded; regional library centers should be extended to other parts of the state; and experiments should be developed with other types of coordinated services which seem applicable to the needs of Massachusetts libraries.
